Mrs. Amelia R. Paul, mother of John B. and the late Ben Paul, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Woodward, at Hartford, Kentucky, on the 11th of this month. She deceased was in her 89th year, and was numbered as one of the group of old persons of this city where she had made her home for many years. She was a native of Virginia and came to Ripley county in 1881, or 32 years ago. She had made her home with her son John B. for some years past, and was a bright, spry old lady, much more energetic and active than hundreds of women of not half her years. About a year ago she went to her daughter's in Kentucky on a visit, and made the trip unaccompanied. She had intended to return here after a few months visit, but her health began failing, from infirmities of old age, and she was unable to return. She was buried there. Besides a large circle of relatives she leaves many good friends who are pained to learn of her death.

Married in St. Louis.

The following article is taken from the St. Louis Globe-Democrat of Wednesday, June 18th, instant:

Failure to keep secret their double marriage was the reason two nurses recently were dismissed from the Christian Hospital, 2945 Lawton avenue, where they were to be graduated as trained nurses in a year. The bridegrooms are R. J. Owens and J. W. McClane, medical students in the National University, Lawton and Garrison avenues. They are due to be graduated next year.

Miss Inez Ponder was married to Owens and Miss Zula Langford to McClane in March, Rev. Dr. Grant A. Robbins performing the double ceremony. The brides undertook to keep the marriages secret, as the hospital and university were adjoining, and they could see each other every day. The girls desired diplomas as trained nurses and knew publicity of their wedding would cause dismissal.

The superintendent of the hospital, Miss Sharpe, learned of the secret marriage three weeks later. She investigated and told the girls they would have to go. She promised not to tell others. The young men sent their brides to Doniphan, Mo., to await a reunion at the close of school.

Owens and McClane intend to return to the university and receive their diplomas next year. Friends were informed of the wedding yesterday. Owens lives near Doniphan, while McClane's home is in Jacksonville, Florida. The brides are both 20 years old. They met their husbands while at clinics.

Eight Grade Graduates.

There were sixty-seven eight grade graduates in the rural schools of the county the past school year, and they assembled at the courthouse last Saturday afternoon for their final exercises and the reception of their diplomas. Of the total number of graduates, sixty-one were present at the meeting and participated.

A nice program had been prepared and the court room was filled with the friends and relatives of the scholars.

The Rogers gold medals were awarded to Miss Valyle Carlyle, of Fern Nook and Master Glenn Gaddin, of Naylor, Miss Ada Sloan, Earl Greenwood and Ed. Ferguson, being selected as the judges of the contest.

The medals are the gift of Rev. E. L. Rogers, pastor of the Baptist church of this city, and are given for the winning declamations on pertinent subjects, one being given to the young ladies and the other to the young gentlemen.

Attorney Chas. L. Ferguson made the class address, which was an exceedingly good one and highly appreciated by all. Superintendent Braschler delivered the diplomas to the graduates and made a fine address.

After the exercises were over the class, the largest ever yet assembled in the county, were grouped on the court house steps at the east front and had their "pictures took" by photographer Williams.

Bonds Sure Sold.

The bonds for the new high school building were positively sold this week to John Nuveen & Co., of Chicago, at 51.2 per cent, their acceptance being wired yesterday to the school board. W. R. Compton & Co., of St. Louis bid the bonds in when they were first sold, their bid being par at 5 per cent with a premium of $250. The bonds were placed on the market in May. The attorney for the company after examining the bonds and the merchants and manufacturers tax assessment of 1911, the bonds being based on that assessment, turned them down on some technicality of the 1911 assessment. After six weeks delay the bonds were sold to John Nuveen & Co., at 51.2 per cent. The contract for the building will be let tomorrow and work on the foundation will be started next week and expect to have the building ready by the 1st of October.

Mr. Pence was a teacher in the high school here three or four years ago and is well remembered by many of the students.

A Bad Wreck.

The noon train on the branch road met with the worst wreck that has occurred in a long time. It was on their trip back to Neelyville and in passing a curve about two miles this side of Oxley, the engineer, Mr. Perry, discovered that a trestle spanning a branch that runs into Harris creek, was on fire, and he was close upon it in passing the curve that he could not stop his train in the distance he had to run, with the result that when the locomotive ran onto the trestle the rails spread, the timbers broke to pieces and the engine went to the creek bed below, being a hopeless wreck, the engine standing with pilot in the dirt and the tender and its contents piling upon top of it. The whistle valve was jammed in the fall and the escaping steam sounding an emergency call that was heard for several miles from the scene of the wreck. The train consisted of three box cars loaded with ties, the baggage and express car and a coach. One of the box cars dropped off the rails at the end of the trestle but did not go down to the bottom as it rested on top of the tender and engine. The fire in the engine fire box and the burning timbers of the bridge set fire to the coal and the car of ties also caught, the car of ties and the tender and the engine being burned. The fireman, Mr. Waltemate, and the engineer, both jumped when they saw they were going in, but neither was injured, though both were considerably jarred up and bruised. Mr. Perry the engineer, had one of his ankles twisted which caused him considerable pain.

It is supposed that the trestle was set on fire from cinders from the train when it made its trip in the morning at 9 o'clock.

The wreck train was sent for at the Bluff and reached the scene in a short time after the wreck occurred.

There were several passengers on the train from Doniphan but none were injured in anyway.

No trains have been able to go over the road since then and it is said a train will reach here today, sometime, as the bridge crew and section hands of the branch and the adjacent sections of the main line have been working night and day to rebuild the trestle.

The fire of the burning car and tender was so hot that the forest trees on each side of the track were badly scorched.

Ball Games.

On last Saturday the local ball club crossed bats with the River team at Athletic park which resulted in a score of 4 to 3 in favor of Doniphan. There were eleven innings played and it was probably about the best game played for some time. Anyhow manager Booker says the boys put up a good fight.

On Monday of this week the Datto, Ark., team came up and played three games, one on Monday and two on Tuesday. Monday's game resulted in a score of 3 to 2 in favor of Doniphan and Tuesday's games were both won by the home team the score being 9 to 3 and 8 to 6. There was some good ball played in all the games.

He Had Lived With H.

Uncle Frank Johnson Page to pretty good story on himself, one result of his recent visit to Harrisburg. He was going along the street one while in that town, and as he passed a nice looking young chap out and spoke to him and asked how he liked the place.

"I like your town alright," said Uncle Frank. "It is a good place."

Then in reply to how long he been there and how long he was going to stay, he told the young man the was there for a month at the U. S. hospital, as he was a veteran.

"That's a nice place," said the young man, "and I am glad to know you our town so well."

"You certainly have a fine place here and while everybody says it is dull I think it is very lively. You have good buildings, nice streets, and your people are alright and treat visitors with the southern hospitality."

"Well, well, that's good of you to speak so nicely of our people, and I want you to come in the store and I will show you a lot of goods at prices that will push your eyes out, and I don't want to make a cent of profit off of you either. Just want to sell you some fine goods very cheap, because you have such an opinion of the place and the people, and at that the young man steered Uncle Frank into his store, a very neat and attractive place, and began to pile lot of jewelry and trinkets on the counter before him. He selected some very nice things and offered them to Uncle Frank at what he (Uncle Frank) could see from the cash and sale price was less than half the cost and wanted him to take them. But Uncle Frank murmured, and the young man asked him where he was from, and was told that he lived at Doniphan. "Oh, yes, that's a good town up in old Missouri, I have heard," replied the young fellow, and again tried to induce Uncle Frank to buy, but he finally said to him, "See young man, you write up to any of the business men there where I came from and they will tell you I'm all right. I used to live with old man Skinner, myself."

The young man caught the joke, and slapping him on the shoulder laughed and told him to come see him whenever he was down town.
